THE QUESTION OF CHOICE. (New York Telegram.)

A missionary went one day unto a heathwho had no ministers, they say, nor church with towering steeple.

They knew no difference 'twixt the twain—a righteous man or sinner—So when this preacher would explain they served him up for dinner.

'They were a heathen lot!"I said, but I have since reflected— They wished their own beliefs instead of those this chap selected; They'd never tried by word or deed to influence a creature, when they could not gulp his creed they simply gulped the preacher.

To bring to us some strange commands because we were benighted, Of course we would not boil his bones nor fricassee his members— We'd just consign him to those zones which boast of no Decembers.

"Texas is justly tired of you. Mr. Yoakum could not understand such a remark should come from Mr. House, and, if intended, why it was necessary to telegraph it. An investigation started, and it developed that the telegram was written:

Texas is justly proud of you." The only explanation is that the telegraph operator misread the copy in sending it, because in the Morse code there is no similarity between the dots and dashes which form the word "proud" and those which form the word "tired."

The aches and pains of Rheumatism are only symptoms which may be scattered or relieved with liniments, plasters, blisters, etc., or quieted with opiates. As soon, however, as the treatment is left off or there is any exposure to dampness or cold, or an attack of indigestion, or other physical irregularity, the aggravating pains, swollen joints and tender places on the flesh return, and the sufferer finds that he has merely checked the symptoms, while the real cause remained in the blood. Rheumatism is due to a too acid condition of the blood, brought on by indigestion, chronic constipation, weak kidneys, and a general sluggish condition of the system. This acid circulating in the blood produces the pains, aches, and other disagreeable symptoms of Rheumatism. S. S. S., a purely vegetable remedy, cures Rheumatism by going down into the circulation and driving out the cause and making this life-stream pure, rich and healthy. 'When the blood has been cleansed of the irritating, pain-producing acids by S. S. S., the pains and aches cease, the muscles become soft and pliable, the health is built up, and Rheumatism completely and permanently cured.
